CRISIS INTERVENTION

- Individual
- Group

Schools that are safe and responsive have plans and procedures in place to deal with violent and disruptive behaviors that do occur. Over-reliance on suspension and expulsion is replaced by an extensive array of options that can be matched to the severity of the offense. In particular, well-prepared schools and districts have in place crisis intervention plans that detail the roles and procedures used to respond to crisis events.

COMMUNITY OUTREACH

An immediate impact, a lifelong example

Retired educator Maurice Pritchett still making children his life's work

By JENNIFER PRICE • The News Journal • November 8, 2009

"I would like to see more parents come into the school and sit down with their child's teacher to see what they can do to help their child be successful in the classroom. Parent involvement is the foundation because parents make a big difference in where these youngsters are going to go."

FOUNDER

Maurice Pritchett, Sr. is the CEO of Pritchett Associates and is a well-decorated leader in the community. Reared on the east side of Wilmington, Delaware, Mr. Pritchett received his Bachelor of Science Degree in Elementary Education from Delaware State University in 1965 and his Master's Degree in Educational Administration in 1974.

Mr. Pritchett's distinguished career as an educational administrator includes serving four years in the Cecil County School District (Elkton, MD), a tenure at Elbert School (Wilmington, DE), and serving as a Community School Director at Bancroft School, where he attended elementary school as a child. Upon earning his M.A., Mr. Pritchett served as Vice-Principal of Bancroft Elementary and later went on to serve as Principal of the school for thirty years. While serving as Principal, he was able to develop educational programs with many of the same teachers who taught him as a child.

Mr. Pritchett attributes his success to those who mentored him during his tough childhood, such as Nathan "Doc" Hill. Hill, a community leader at the local YMCA, helped Pritchett to obtain a scholarship to attend college, which allowed him to further his education. Hill and other community leaders are the reason why Mr. Pritchett has such a passion for serving his community.

During his many years of service, Mr. Pritchett has received numerous accolades. His selection as the State of Delaware's 1994 and 1995 National Distinguished Principal afforded an opportunity for Pritchett to attend a program in Washington, D.C. that honors America's National Distinguished Principals. This award was presented to Pritchett by the president's appointee, Secretary of Education, Richard W. Riley.
